Alliance of Women Coaches Announces New Member to Join Board of Directors

The Alliance of Women Coaches has announced a new member, Southern Utah University Athletic Director Debbie Corum, to join the Board of Directors. Corum begins a three-year term this month.

“Debbie is a well-respected and accomplished administrator with a wealth of experience. We look forward to the leadership she will bring to our talented group of Board members,” said Dr. Cecile Reynaud, president of the Alliance’s Board.

Corum became the first female NCAA Division I Athletic Director in the state of Utah in November 2017 after serving as the Interim Athletic Director for the previous five months. At Southern Utah University, Corum oversees 17 athletic programs, coaches, staff and more than 350 student-athletes.

Prior to Southern Utah, Corum was the Senior Associate Athletic Director-Senior Woman Administrator at the University of Connecticut. She served as the Chair of the American Athletic Conference SWA Committee and was a member of several other esteemed groups, including the NCAA Division I Women’s Basketball Committee, the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators (NACWAA) Board of Directors, the AAC Strategic Planning Task Force and the AAC Athletics Director’s Executive Committee.

Before taking a position at UConn, Corum spent time at the Southeastern Conference (2000-2012) as the Associate Commissioner of Sports Administration. Corum was familiar with the SEC, after spending time there from 1989-1994 as a Director of Championships, as well as an Assistant Director of Championships. She also spent four years at Louisiana State University (1996-2000) as an Associate/Assistant Athletic Director for their Olympic Sports after spending two years at Stanford University (1994-1996) as an Assistant Athletic Director of Intercollegiate Sports.

The Alliance of Women Coaches was founded in 2011 and has become the premier organization dedicated to leading the field of women coaches, at all levels, by providing support, resources, and unparalleled events and programs.
