

WeCOACH Member,

It is with great pleasure that the United States Marine Corps invites you to apply to attend the Marine Corps Recruiting Command (MCRC) Coaches Workshop at Marine Corps Base Quantico, Virginia from May 9 to May 13, 2023.

Coaches and Marines both share a passion for transforming young people into high-caliber citizens of our great Nation. Our passion for integrity, strong moral character, education, and developing the individual Marine/student is at the core of both of our organizations.

The workshop is designed to provide coaches from colleges and universities across the nation the opportunity to see firsthand how highly-qualified college students are recruited, screened, and developed into Marine officers. We will provide insight into our Marine officer training process, benefits, career opportunities, and service within the Marine Corps.

Each day focuses on different aspects of the Marine Corps, and no question is off limits.

Events include:

- Education center tours
- Q&A briefs with Marines at various ranks and in multiple career fields
- Boarding a military aircraft
- Marksmanship training
- Eating lunch with recruits in training
- Team building events
- Optional participation in a Marine Corps fitness test

If selected, we are confident that you will receive valuable tools and information to enhance your coaching and leadership skills, which will allow you to better connect with your students and athletes, positively influencing their overall performance and character.

Visit HERE to download the Marine Coaches Workshop application. When completed, please email the application to community@marines.usmc.mil.

Transportation expenses and hotel accommodations will be provided. For additional information, please contact MCRC Community Engagement at: 571-559-4501 or 571-559-4373, community@marines.usmc.mil or visit: Marine Corps Recruiting Command Educators Workshop.

We look forward to hearing from you!